Contents

Special Issue: Dyslexia and Languages
Guest Editors: Dorit Ravid and Rachel Schiff

Different Perspectives on the Interface of Dyslexia and Language: Introduction to the Special LLD Issue on Dyslexia and Language
Dorit Ravid and Rachel Schiff

Rise Time Perception in Children With Reading and Combined Reading and Language Difficulties
Rachel L. Beattie and Franklin R. Manis

Syntactic Comprehension in Reading and Listening: A Study With French Children With Dyslexia
Séverine Casalis, Christel Leuwers, and Heather Hilton

Morphological Processing in Hebrew-Speaking Students With Reading Disabilities
Rachel Schiff and Dorit Ravid

Past-Tense Morphology and Phonological Deficits in Children With Dyslexia and Children With Language Impairment
Erin K. Robertson, Marc F. Joanisse, Amy S. Desroches, and Alexandra Terry

Spelling Performance and Semantic Understanding of Compound Words by Greek Students With Learning Disabilities
Styliani N. Tsesmeli and Despoina Koutselaki

Frequency Analyses of Prephonological Spellings as Predictors of Success in Conventional Spelling
Brett Kessler, Tatiana Cury Pollo, Rebecca Treiman, and Cláudia Cardoso-Martins

Regular Articles

The Effects and Interactions of Student, Teacher, and Setting Variables on Reading Outcomes for Kindergarteners Receiving Supplemental Reading Intervention
Shanna Hagan-Burke, Michael D. Coyne, Oi-man Kwok, Deborah C. Simmons, Minjung Kim, Leslie E. Simmons, Susan T. Skidmore, Caitlin L. Hernandez, and Maureen McSparann Ruby

The Speed of Articulatory Movements Involved in Speech Production in Children With Dyslexia
Mirela Duranovic and Sabina Sehic

Information and Announcements

Guide for Authors

About the Artist: Veronica D. is a Level 2 student attending Starpoint School at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas. Starpoint is a school for children with learning disabilities in Levels 1 through 6. Veronica has always been a fan of cats, jewels, and zebra print. All of those elements come together in “Cat.” Veronica chose a picture of a cat and divided her cat into simple shapes. She then cut those shapes out of fun papers and glued them down in her cat shape. Her final step was to create a place for her cat to play.